REPORTS FROM MINING CAMPS.

RUSH TO THE NEW ALASKAN GOLD FIELD CONTINUES.

Prices High at Tanana-Indications of a Big Increase in Klondike Output—New Smelter for Lake Copper District-Development of Nevada's Gold Fleid.

SEATTLE, Wash, March 23.-The rush to Tanana continues to increase as the season advances, and the early estimates of the number going in, large as they were, will fall short of the actual figures. There are several lines of communication open from different points, affording comparatively casy travelling, and all these trails are reported crowded. Provisions are going in force. ported crowded. Provisions are going in from Dawson, Circle and Valdes in large quantities but regardless of this prices are high, flour commanding $100 a sack and other things in Wadda, the Japanese who first brought the news of the big strike to Dawson and returned with a large lot of provisions, has a corner on them and is making a fortune. While the trails are filled with "mushers," the weather is good and there is no suffering among them. All will get through in good condition. The time from Dawson to the new diggings is three weeks; from Valdes it s about the same. Locating is lively on all the creeks and branches, and the new Re-corder of the district is a very busy man. Thus far it is estimated 5,000 locations have been made and there are plenty of claims still left for those who come in later. It is anticipated that steamers will be making regular trips from Dawson to the Tanana diggings by the middle of May and naviga-tion will remain open all season.

The Klondike mine owners, who announced than $5 a day, are beginning to realize that old prices will prevail, because of Tanana drawing away the surplus. There is work for all who apply from now till the general clean-up of the camps is accomplished. All the creeks are giving great promise in Klondike district and the output promises arger by several millions than last year. Flat and All fold creeks have developed into good producers, and those who have stayed with them will reaprich rewards this spr ng.
The quartz ledges on Twelve-Mile, locate last summer, are opening up well and the mines appear to be permanent. Several hundred locations were made and considerable development work was done. No quartz mills have been constructed, but siderable gold ore, free milling in character, has been taken out. This is known as the Rock Creek quartz district. The Ladue claims in this district.

A large amount of mining and oil ma-chinery is being sent to Valdes and other oints to the westward, and 100 men are outfitting for a prospecting trip on the coast of LAKE SUPERIOR COPPER. HOUGHTON, Mich., March 25.—That an important new spelting plant is to be built in Houghton this season is now certain. The new smelter will care for the copper mineral from the mills of the Stanton and Stanton-Paine properties, which are among the most prosperous in the district, and which have exceptionally bright prospects for future increase. The producing properties in these groups are the Wolverine, Mohawk, Atlantic, Baltic, Champion and Winona, with the Phonix soon to enter the ranks of coppermakers, and a likelihood that the Michigan may also become a producer before the close of the year. The site of the new plant is at the old mill of the Atlantic, on Portage Lake, about two miles west of the business district.

The Mohawk mine is yielding 24 to 26 The Mohawk mine is yielding 24 to 28 pounds of copper per ton of rock milled. The rock is secured practically without selection, and the average return is about the same as was secured by the Wolverine until very recently. The rock is more refractory in stamping, hence a smaller tonnage is being handled, but as the Mohawk mill is planned for four stamps, the ultimate production will be much greater than that of the Wolverine, which has two stamps.

The production of refined copper by the Calumet and Arizona (in Arizona) for 1903 was slightly more than 2,000,000 pounds. With the blowing in of the second furnace it is hoped by the company to turn out fifty tons of blister copper daily, which will place the mine fourth or fifth among American preducers, and the ultimate plans of the company call for a still larger output. The gold and silver values per ton of ore may be placed at about $1.25, which, while small compared with many Western mines, is sufficiently when Policeman Cahill rescued him. Aug-about $1.25, which, while small compared with many Western mines, is sufficiently large to nearly pay the cost of electrolytic refining.

The opening of Lake navigation on Lake Superior, now but a few days distant, will find the local smelters bare of copper. The demand has been unusually brisk during the entire winter, and is more pressing at present than for several years. There are certain brands of Lake copper that cannot be replaced by electrolytic to advantage, these being the Osceola. Calumet and Hecla, &c., which are especially tough and better adapted to certain industrial uses than any other makes of the metal.

The Ahmeek exploring shaft is said to have reached the Kearsarge lode, and to have attivity in stock of the Seneca, which has advanced to $15 a share, and has also directed favorable attention to the Allouez.

The Comanche Mining and Smelting Company, which was financed by Lake capital, is preparing to mine and smelt its ores upon a large scale. The mines are in the Burro Mountains. Grant county, N. M., and the smelter is at Silver City. The reduction plant has a capacity of 300 tons daily, and is so planned that it can be increased to 500 tons at minimum cost. The ores carry small quantities of gold and silver as well as copper, and the assays and development work secured point to the property as one of considerable promise.

MONTANA.

Helena, Mon. March 22.—According to HELENA. Mon., March 22.—According to a report just received from the Fnglish corporation owning the Yogo sapphire fields, the past season was the most profitable in the history of the country. Gradually, but surely, the method of sending the sapphires to London for cutting is being abandoned, until at present a large amount of this detail is being performed in New York and Helena.

Keller and Taylor, two Helena photographers, who "grub-staked" a prospector this spring, have apparently struck it rich in Maupin guich, near nere. A strike of highgrade gold ore is reported in the unnamed claim, and the indications are said to be favorable.

able. There is a remarkable increase of activity in the Rimini district, sixteen miles south of Helena. Many p operties which have been idie for years are being reopened. This renewed activity is caused by the increased price of lead which renders their operation profitable. The reduced prices of treatment by the trust and other smelters are also causing many to embark in business in that district.

by the trust and other smelters are also causing many to embark in business in that district.

The lesses of the Forest mine, at Garnet, Granite county, made a shipment to the East Helena smelter this week that netted $100 to the ton in gold. The workings are still in the oxide formation above the water-level, and the ore is cetting better as depth is obtained. Although of recent discovery, the Forest is a regular shipper.

Operations will be resumed at the cyanide plant of the Montana Mining Company at Marysville. April 1, if the weather permits. This is the largest cyanide plant in the State, and will give employment to a large number of men. The tailings of the noted Drumbummon mine are being treated at the plant. At the same time the Drumlummon is boing developed by a good-sized force of men, and the superintendent holds to the belief that there are still uncovered riches in the property. The Brumlummon was discovered by Thomas Cruse of Helena, who after extracting $5,00°,000 in gold therefrom, sold the property twelve years ago to the flothschilds of London for $5,000,000. The mine has been operated by them ever since at a large profit. While the original ore body has been exhausted, the indications are said to be such that little doubt exists of the finding of more rich ore. The outcome is awaited with much interest in mining circles, as the Drumlummon for more than fifteen ears has been the leading gold producer of the State.

litigation between the Argonaut and Kennedy mines in Amsder county over extra lateral rights was ended this week with a Supreme Court decision in favor of the Argonaut. The latter obtained $90.000 damages and the right to work the ore reached by its 2,300-foot shaft. From the 1,400-foot level to the bottom of the shaft was disputed territory. In this 900 feet of ground there is enough good ore in sight to keep the forty-stamp mill running for several years. The Kennedy will also soon begin work with greatly increased facilities, as it has nearly ready the most powerful hoisting works on the mother lode.

The Golden Eagle gold mine in Lassen county is to be worked on a large scale. The ore is low grade, running from $7 to $9 a ton, but the cost of reduction is small.

After every heavy rain in the mining districts of California people go out in search of nuggets, for, carefully as most of the districts have been prospected, nuggets are washed out after a big storm. A few days ago a nugget worth $1,385 was found in Shasta and near Weaverville in Trinity county a boy picked up a $40s chunk of gold.

Near Sierra City, Sierra county, the Hilda mine, which had been lying idle for several years, was reopened by two young miners. They worked off a small strip of ground and cleaned up $2,000, mostly in coarse gold. In the Lady's Ca on mine nearby a $1,500 nugget was picked up within eighteen inches of the surface. This nugget came from ore of the surface, the sierra Nevadas and which were covered by the lava that overflowed the whole country.

On Soledad Mountain, the highest peak in the Mojave desert, several ledges of ore have been struck which assay from $8$ to $45$ to the ton in gold. The ledge is too feet wide and extends clear across the mountain, dividing it squarely in two. On the Alax claim is a ten-foot ledge which shows good ore. NEVADA.

RENO. March 23.—In the Lone Mountain district Lynch & O'Meara's mine is producing 20,000 sacks of ore a month which nets the owners $20,000. The ore is hauled thirty-two miles to Candelaria on the railroad and is then shipped to the Salt Lake smelter. The principal ledge is 24 inches wide and the ore, which has a lead base, carries from 300 to 400 ounces of silver to the ton, with about $3 in gold. With a smelter near at hand the profits would be much greater. This camp is only twenty-four miles from Tonopah and it was practically dead until the discoveries at Tonopah showed how cheaply the ores of this district could be worked.

the discoveries at Tonopah showed how cheaply the ores of this district could be worked.

The new town of Paymaster has been founded on the Silver Peak road, iwenty-seven miles southeast of Tonopah. An abundant supply of fresh water was secured at a depth of fifty feet. Fifteen tents on the principal street make up the town, which is mainly composed of workmen in the Paymaster mine nearby. An assay office has been opened and the town will probably soon boast of permanent houses.

At Tonopah work is going on in all the mines, but progress is slow. In the Fraction mine some rich ruby silver ore, ranging from $200 to $600 a ton, is being sacked for shipment. The Tonopah Mining Company is shipping only enough ore to pay expenses. The remainder is being sacked up, awaiting the time when it can be worked at home. To ship the ore to Salt Lake and treat it costs from $35 to $40 a ton, to reduce it anywhere near Tonopah would cost not over $12 a ton.

The most recent strike in Tonopah was in the "Maggie O" claim, owned by the California and Tonopah company. The shaft was sunk blind"—that is, as in the Fraction, there was no surface indication in the ledge. When down 140 feet the shrft struck a ledge forty feet deep, which will average better than $25 to the ton and certain portions of which run as high as $3,000 to the ton. The Montana-Tonopah company has a shaft down $60 feet. On the 370-foot level a six-foot vein was struck running $50 to the ton and thirty feet below another ledge was cut that runs from $350 to $750, one-third being gold.

Schmittberger and his men also made four other arrests during the day. One of the places they visited was the saloon of Joe Cochran, at 320 Delancey street, where they arrested the bartender, James Wilson. Patrick Madden, a citizen living at 393 Madison street, was in the saloon at the time and protested against what he called an outrage on the rights of law-abiding people. A row started and Madden was arrested along with the bartender.

GLOISTEIN'S BUCKING AUTO

DUMPS THE FISHING CLUB INTO A CONEY ISLAND CREEK.

Tour That Started in Triumph in Third Avenue and the Bowery Ends in Dis-aster When the Party Headed Homeward-They'll Stick to Boating New. August J. Gloistein, president of the Glois ein Fishing Club, took some of the leading members of the club on an automobile ride yesterday afternoon. The automobile was dug out of a ditch near Coney Island last night and brought to New York on a truck. Gloistein's guests are reported to be doing as well as could be Gloistein had his first ride in an automobile several days ago and immediately became an enthusiast.

On Saturday he sent invitation to Charlie Wagner, the Grand street dry goods man; Louis Geils of the Hanfield House, Pat Kehoe, the new Mayor of Poverty Hollow; Simon Steingut, the Mayor of Second avenue, and Bismark Ruskoow to accompany him on an automobile ride yesterday.

Gloistein refused to say where he hired the automobile and only frowned when Mayor Kehoe asked him if it was used during the week to roll down newly-laid asphalt paving.

"Sure," said Gloistein. "I spend two hours taking lessons. I maig id go liag a regular hoss running avay."

The automobile was only built to carry four persons, but Glois ein managed to get all aboard and stow in a keg of beer. Before the party started the machine did several stunts in Forty-second street that fright-ened passersby and filled the guests with misgivings.

When Gloistein started the machine it turned a complete circle, cavorted up on the sidewalk and then dashed at a furious rate of speed down Third avenue. Wagner was shouting "Bolice" and trying to jump off, but Keho; held on and kept him on his was shouting boince and trying to jump off, but Keho; held on and kept him on his perch.

The speed slackened as the motive power began to give out and before the party reached Fourteenth street Geils was able to pour out beer without spilling it.

All along the Bowery Gloistein got a hilarious welcome and when he turned into Grand street it became an ovation. Just as they reached Forsyth street the automobile gave several sudden jumps and then shot out at break-neck speed toward the Grand street ferry.

"Id vas running avay," wailed Wagner.

The Grand street ferry was reached in three minutes, just as Gloistein managed to find the brake and stop the automobile plump up against the ferryhouse.

It took all of Gloistein's power of persuasion to induce the party to continue on the journey, but after a half hour's stop in the Hanfield House for refreshments they all said they would take a chance.

The trip to Coney Island was made without any further accident, although there were several narrow escapes from collisions on the Coney Island boulevard.

They started on the return trip shortly after sundown. By this time there, was

"I moof," said Wagner as he was hoisted aboard, "dot Gloistein maig der vaggon go for all id vas vorth. Gif me a smile a minute. Led her go! Hooray for Gloistein."

Gloistein turned on all the power at once and the automobile started off as if it had been shot from a cannon. The impetus spilled Wagner and the nearly finished keg of beer on the road, but no attention was paid to either.

"Dis vill be a fine trip," said Gloistein. "Led us all sing undt haf a goodt time. I haf der steerer fixed so dot ve go straighdt aheadt."

All hands started to sing "We Won't Go Home Until Morning." In the middle of the third verse something happened to the automobile. It suddenly turned to the left, ran up over an embankment and then down an incline into a creek where there were about three feet of water and mud. It brought up against the opposite bank of the creek with a thud, throwing out the occupants. "Hold on here," yelled Gloistein. "Safe der vaggon.

"I hobe der vaggon drowns," cried Geils, as he started up the road after Kehoe.

The party found themselves on the road back of the Brighton Beach racetrack and managed to reach a small hotel about a mile away. Wagner had arrived before them and was trying to clean his clothes and nursing a cut about four inches long on the top of his bald head.

After the crowd scraped the mud from their faces and clothes an account of the injuries were taken. Kehoe had a sprained wrist, Geils a long cut across his forehead, one of Gloistein's eyes was completely closed and he had several cuts on his face and head, Steingut complained of having a broken skull, but his injuries were not quite so serious, and Rakow showed the place where four teeth used to be.

Gloistein got no sympathy in his trouble.

"O'ill cut him off me staff" said Kehoe.
"I stig me by fishing" said Gloistein.

SHORE FRONT PARK AT RYE! Reasons for and Against a Bill That is

RYE, N. Y., March 29.-The rich New Yorkers living here are at odds with each other over a bill which has been introduced in the Legislature by Assemblyman Wainwright to establish a town park at Rye Beach, on the Sound. Assemblyman Wain-wright introduced the fill at the request of John A. Gwynne, a retired broker, who is the father of the park idea. Mr. Gwynne fears that the wealthy men will buy up all of the shore front at Rye and use it for country homes, thereby shutting out the people of Rye and adjoining towns from acc the salt water.

The act calls for an appropriation not to The act calls for an appropriation not to exceed $250,000 for the purchase of seventy-two acres of shore front, which is to be converted into a town park. In order to further the bill the people of Rye and Port Chester who favor the park have organized the Rye Park Association and are ficeding the town with petitions which are being signed by the smaller taxpayers and tradesmen.

The opposition to the park is led by John E. Parsons and other wealthy residents who advance the arguments that the park will not only be a burden on the taxpayer, but that it will deprive Rye of the exclusiveness it now enjoys as a high-class residence section. The whole town of Rye, Mr. Parsons declares, is a park.

A hearing on the bill is to be given on Tuesday before the Committee on Internal Affairs. The bill has a referendum clause and cannot go into effect until a majority of the taxpayers vote to adopt it.
